DevSecCon Code of Conduct

- All conference speakers and attendees must adhere to the DevSecCon code of conduct.

- DevSecCon is dedicated to providing a harassment-free conference experience for everyone regardless of gender, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, body size, race, or religion. We do not tolerate harassment in any form. Sexual language and imagery is not appropriate for any conference venue, including talks. Conference participants violating these rules may be sanctioned or expelled from the conference without a refund at the discretion of the conference organisers.

- Any form of written, social media, or verbal communication that can be offensive or harassing to any attendee, speaker or staff is not allowed at DevSecCon. Please inform a DevSecCon staff member if you feel a violation has taken place and the management team will address the situation. Conference staff can be identified by t-shirts and/or special badges. Participants asked to stop any harassing behaviour are expected to comply immediately. We expect participants to follow these rules at all conference venues and conference-related social events.

- If you see or experience any violation of the code of conduct, please let us know!
